

It is my understanding that the Consumer Bankers Association (CBA) has chosen to challenge Indiana's Telephone Privacy law in a proceeding before the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) by attempting to impose the federal "established business relationship" exemption on Indiana consumers. Please do not allow them to succeed in this challenge. Indiana customers have a right to privacy while they are in their homes. I have been on the No-Call list since it began with only a short time off of it when I moved. The difference is amazing. During the short time I was off the list, I was harrassed with phone call after phone call. I have peace and privacy at home when the No-Call list is supported. To allow the CBA to succeed in their attempt to weaken the list would only invade the privacy of every Indiana residence. We deserve the right to have a peaceful meal and evening with our family. Please deny them their claims.
